Lack of new books cut down the circulation. Borrowed for two years from Library Commission Office.

Last year Mr. Duffy bought us some very fine juvenile books and Miss Bentley adult books. We have had gifts from C. H. Dow, J. Ladd, E. Wylie, V. Dube and Mrs. Lighton. Bought some second hand books from a lending library. Now we have just bought 120 new books, and magazines we have not had for some time, Readers Digest, Popular Mechanics, Literary Digest and some others.

Through the kindness of Ellis J. Clark assisted by Mr. Fisher the chairs in the hall have been securely mended which was greatly appreciated.

Librarian.

IMPROVEMENT

The third and fourth grade at the Gale building has been much improved in appearance. A celotex ceiling has been installed and there is no more danger from falling plaster. The walls have been repainted. At least one of the other rooms of this building should receive attention this coming summer. The electric lights in these school-rooms are inadequate. There should be more outlets.

The Plummer school should be remodeled if its use is to be continued indefinitely. Personally I believe that this school might well be closed and the children transported to the village.

HIGH SCHOOL

While our high school does not grow in numbers I believe there is a definite growth in efficiency. This is in no small part due to Mr. Elden H. Dustin, the headmaster.

The work in mechanic arts continues to be popular. Its value is unquestioned. Our great need is for a course in home making for the girls. I sincerely hope that in the near future it may be possible to make provision for such a course.

Our high school is in need of more adequate laboratory facilities and some additional equipment. Without unreasonable outlay these needs could be met.

REPORT OF HEADMASTER

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The spring of 1938 marks nearly two years of occupancy of the new school by grades seven to twelve. That the added facilities of the new building have been responsible for some achievements is certain. The building has proved readily adaptable to school assemblies and parties as well as to regular school work and its size has accommodated adequately all groups enrolled up to this time. The maximum number enrolled in the high school and junior high in 1938 is 88. Of this number, 44 are high school students. There are nine seniors, a graduating class equal in number to the 1936 group, the largest class ever graduated from the high school.

Progress has been made in adapting subject matter to the needs of the pupils. Thirteen of the seventeen high school boys are enrolled in cabinet making; positive evidence of the value of this work has already been shown by the performance of worthwhile home and school projects by the boys. The shop, in the 1938-39 school year, must be equipped for a course in general shop which will include some metal work. This will not only be necessary in order to obtain state department approval of a two-year unit course curriculum in vocational arts, but it will also give the boys a useful variety of skills. Work in the commercial department continues to be an aid to the vocational training of the girls' group.

It seems unfortunate that a relatively large number of pupils leave school at the end of the eighth grade; this is especially regrettable in these times when permanent occupational opportunities are so few.

Regular class work activities have been supplemented by a more varied extra-curricular program. A successful winter carnival was held; training in oral English with a speaking contest as its goal is in progress. School morale is good.

The landscaping of the school grounds would seem a most desirable project for community-school cooperation this spring. The loan of trucks and tools and the provision of loan must be the share of the community in the project; much of the labor can be provided by the school; proper supervision of the project may be secured from the New Hampshire Extension service.

I am extremely grateful to the other members of the faculty, the School Board, the Superintendent, and all in the community who have worked with me this year.

Respectfully submitted,

ELDEN H. DUSTIN,

Headmaster.
